Safety Moment

Be prepared!

HURRICANE SEASON

June 1 to November 30

Is your company prepared for hurricane season? If you begin working on your hurricane plan when a storm is in the gulf it is too late! You need to think not only about the safety of your employees but also your company assets and how will you return after a disaster and help get the industry functioning again all while helping your employees get back on their feet again too. Do you have all of these areas covered in your hurricane preparedness plan?

- ✓ Do you have a hurricane point person and command center assigned?
- ✓ Do all office and field leadership know their responsibilities and have contact information for all employees?
- ✓ What will happen with company vehicles, equipment and tools? Where/how should they be stored? Can they be used for personal use during a disaster? If so, what is the process?
- ✓ How will payroll be addressed for the current week and those to come?
- ✓ How will your job sites be secured? Do you have the supplies on hand to tie down supplies, tools and equipment and keep them as high as possible, in case of flooding, while still being in a safe location?
- ✓ How/who will secure your office spaces? Computers, sensitive documents, etc?
- ✓ Are you prepared to assist with immediate recovery? Do you have fuel, generators, water, PPE, etc on hand for when you return? Also consider portable showers, eye wash stations, etc in case facilities are not in full operation.
- ✓ Do you have back up communication plans in place if cell phone towers are not in operation?

Something else to consider is how will you assist in caring for employees with limited resources, water or food available? It will be imperative to help care for them so they can assist in getting the entire area back up and running. Your employees are your most valuable asset so be sure to remember that part of your plan. Here's to a hurricane free 2021!
